The bud is more easily blighted than the full-blown rose. A young girl is more susceptible to weakness and disease that will wreck her in a womanly way than she is after she has attained to healthy womanhood. Thousands of women have their lives wrecked by troubles of this delicate description because of their own ignorance and the prudery of their mothers. Whenever the wandering demon of ill health finds a ship adrift upon the sea of ignorance, he steps on board, takes the helm, and steers straight for the maelstrom of death. The young woman who has not been taught the necessity of taking care of her health in a womanly way is a ship adrift upon the sea of ignorance. Diseases that will wreck her future happiness will soon assume command. Young women who suffer from weakness and disease peculiar to their sex live under a terrible nervous tension, and if their escape death are always threatened with insanity. The whole nervous system is affected by the constant drag and drain upon the delicate and feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the one perfect and useful specific for every derangement and disorder of this description. It fits a woman for wifehood and motherhood. It is the best of all known nerve tonics. It is the discovery of one of the most eminent and skillful specialists in disease of women.

"I was troubled three years with female weakness," writes Miss Ellen Orey, of Bedford Co., Va. "I had two physicians, but neither did me any good. I was troubled with pains in my left side all the time. When it was time for my monthly periods I thought it would die with gains in my back and stomach. I also had chills. I could not get up without fainting. Finally I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and two of his Golden Medical Discovery. I do not have any pains at all and am in better health now than I ever was in my life."

How to preserve health and beauty are told in Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser. It is free. For a paper-covered copy send at once stamps, to cover mailing only; cloth binding, 37 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

NON OMNIS MORIAR.

In the teeth of the gale that hurls me back,
In the swirl of the eddy that sucks me down,
I—I, tide by tide and tack by tack,
Threading the Night where fanged rocks frown,
Bare the last spar fall, shall have somehow crawl'd
To that Port whence shore no light far mine,
Where wrecked, if you will, but unappall'd,
I shall know I am stronger than my Seal!
—Arthur J. Stringer in Bookman.

SAW A DEVILFISH LEAP.

An Experience Which the Spectator Does Not Wish to Renew.

When a youngster I was homeward bound from Santa Anna with a cargo of mahogany, and when off Cape Campeche was one calm afternoon leaning over the taffrail, looking down into the blue profound, on the watch for fish, writes a world wide traveler. A gloomy, shade came over the bright water, and up rose a fearsome monster, some 18 feet across and in general outline more like a skate or ray than anything else, all except the head.

There, what appeared to be two curling horns, about three feet apart, rose one on each side of the most horrible pair of eyes imaginable. A shark's eyes as he turns sideways under your vessel's counter and looks up to see if any one is coming, are ghastly, green and cruel; but this thing's eyes were all this and much more. I felt that the book of Revelation was incomplete without him, and his gaze haunts me yet.

Although quite sick and giddy at the sight of such a boggy, I could not move until the awful thing, suddenly waving what seemed like mighty wings, soared up out of the water soundlessly to a height of about six feet, falling again with a thunderous splash that might have been heard for miles. I must have fainted with fright, for the next thing I was conscious of was awakening under the rough doctoring of my shipmates.

Since then I have never seen one leap upward in the daytime. At night, when there is no wind, the sonorous splash is constantly to be heard, although why they make that battle leap out of their proper element is not easy to understand. It does not seem possible to believe such awe inspiring horrors capable of playing gamboling.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Unreasonable.

"Yes, we're at swords' points," admitted a suburbanite, while discussing a neighbor.

"Fault on both sides, I presume?"

"No, sir, not a bit of it. I've been unfortunate, that's all, and he won't listen to explanations."

"Shot his dog, didn't you?"

"Yes, I did, but it was this way. I heard the whole street in shrieks and rushed to the window. Boys were climbing trees, mothers hustled their babies inside and locked their doors, and down the center of the street came that dog like all possessed. Of course I thought he was mad. So would anybody, and I shot him."

"Come to find out, he'd been rooting into a bumblebees' nest. I'm no expert on mad dogs and told my neighbor so, but he stormed around as though he had bees in his own hair, and I just dropped him."

"What made him madder was that I bit him in the head with an old coal scuttle. I can't see through a tight board fence, can I? I didn't know he was snooking through the alley, when I threw the thing away. He was so mad that I didn't recognize his voice. I told him we didn't allow such talk and had him kicked across part of a subdivision before I discovered who he was. Then I apologized, but there's no reason in him."—Detroit Free Press.

A peculiar clock of the time of Charles I was the lantern, or birdcage style, which hung from the walls high up, with its works exposed. Submarine volcanoes are constantly being discovered, and are at times, owing to their sudden appearance, a great danger to navigation.

Her Thoughtfulness.

"Beautiful, my dear!" The elderly millionaire who had married the famous beauty regarded the watch chain admiringly.

"A very delightful birthday present," he continued, beaming upon his fair, young wife. "So massive and yet in such excellent taste."

"I am so glad you like it," she observed. "It was so cheap too. Just think, it cost only $15."

"Only $15!" echoed the millionaire, in astonishment. "Fifteen dollars for this solid gold chain?"

"Oh, of course it isn't solid gold," she interposed. "You could never get a solid gold chain for that price."

"What is it, then?"

"Why, gold filled, to be sure."

"I see," said her husband, stroking his chin reflectively. "But why this sudden streak of economy? Don't you think I can afford to wear a solid gold chain?"

"Of course you can," she assented. "But this one is guaranteed to last for ten years—and—"

"Well?" said the millionaire inquiringly.

"Well, dear," she concluded, after some hesitation, "as that is quite as long as you are likely to live, I thought it would be foolish extravagance to pay any more!"—Harold Eyre in Woman's Home Companion.

Why She Enjoyed It.

On Sunday, as a certain Scottish minister was returning homeward, he was accosted by an old woman, who said:

"Oh, sir, well do I like the day when you preach."

The minister was aware that he was not very popular and answered:

"My good woman, I am glad to hear it. There are too few like you. And why do you like it when I preach?"

"Oh, sir," she replied, "when you preach I always get a good seat!"—Scottish Nights.

OWNERSHIP OF FRANCHISES.

There is no department of public service that is receiving so much attention as municipal ownership of public franchises. The advance public opinion has made respecting the duty there is upon municipalities to own all public interests required for use by the people is perhaps more in the last decade than had been made preceding that time. The ownership by the people of public utilities is receiving some of the best thought of our ablest thinkers, and the strides that have been made which favor ownership by those who use public franchises is encouraging to those who favor such ownership by the people.

Should the growth continue in public sentiment that is made manifest by real work in that direction, the public will, in the next thirty years, have provided for the ownership by it of all public utilities. It is a truth that those interested in the advancement of better conditions for the people are giving much time to the investigation of public interests, for the purpose of bringing to public attention the benefits that will be derived by co-operation and public ownership of monopolies.

It is becoming to be recognized that all public enterprises are monopolies, and that monopolies should be owned by the people. At no time has there been given to the question of ownership by the people of monopolies so much thought as there is at present being given to it. There is an increasing tendency to public ownership and operation of public enterprises. The larger number of the large cities in the United States no more depend on private water works. Fifty of the largest cities in the United States, except nine, own the water works that supply them with water. The exceptions are San Francisco, New Orleans, Omaha, Denver, Indianapolis, New Haven, Paterson, Scranton and Memphis.

There are about two hundred cities and towns that have changed from private to public ownership, and in that number about twenty have returned from public to private ownership of public water systems. Much the larger number of the cities and villages that have taken water supply under public control have done so in the last ten years, and of the changes from public to private ownership only about one third have been made in the last ten years.

Gas plants are owned by about 168 English cities, 338 German and 11 American cities. Brussels and Amsterdam also own gas plants. Electric light plants are owned and operated by almost 300 American municipalities, and by many English, and other cities on the continent of Europe. More than one-third of the English street railways are owned and operated by the public. Among those that are of note that are so operated are the street railways in Glasgow, Leeds, Sheffield and London, and in England and Scotland very few of the franchises that expire are being renewed.

The public utilities mentioned are monopolies, as are all public enterprises of that character when there is taken into relation with them quality and cheapness of service. It being true that all means of a private nature are monopolies when applied to the service of the public, the question remaining to be disposed of is, should public or private ownership prevail in matters that pertain to public service. When we have taken into consideration the benefit derived to the people by public ownership, there is no question upon the utility of public control of monopolies public in their character. These monopolies do not become any less so when owned by the public, as they continue to be monopolies when owned by the public in as large a measure as they are when owned by individuals.

Then there is presented to the public mind for solution the problem, is it better for the people that they own in municipal form the monopolies, or is it better that they should be owned and operated by private or individual enterprise. The first thing that is presented to the public is, when a monopoly is owned by the people they control the monopoly, and if oppression follows they have the means under their control to give relief against municipal monopoly because it is for the benefit of the owners and is used to supply them only. So to speak, the service work is the work of a horse that belongs to the people of a particular locality, and so long as the work of the horse is doing good service, they will not allow any other horse in the public pasture. A monopoly becomes a necessity when the public is supplying its own wants.

ONE OF UNCLE'S

WINNING WAYS

Traveling Public Are Given no Choice of Eating Houses.

The ways of the Central Pacific are often dark and its tricks vain. It is a clutching and retentive hand that our uncle has for the stray nickel.

To illustrate: The eastbound train stops for breakfast here every morning. There are four excellent eating houses on Commercial Row which could be easily reached by the passengers if the train would stop at other trains on this road stop, with the baggage car in front of the baggage room.

The eating houses are the Clarendon hotel, Palace restaurant, Arcade restaurant and Washoe lunch counter. But this east bound train pulls down below the station and when the travelers alight they find only one of these eating houses in easy walking distance. This place, the Clarendon hotel, gets all the patronage at 50 cents a head, while the other houses, with their excellent 25 cent meals, receive no patronage from the travelers.

Wonder if Uncle Collie or his employees who run this train get a fat divvy out of each of the 50 cent pieces?

King Charles.

Charles I, by the grace of the Central Pacific, king of Nevada, was reported yesterday to be in Reno. The king was no doubt taking an inventory of his political goods and chattels called men. Some of his subjects in Nevada are accused of disloyalty, which cannot be true. The king is secure in the allegiance of his followers, because they do not have the required manhood to rebel.

It was also reported that Charles I was in Carson about two weeks ago to ascertain the truth about some reports that had been made against the loyalty of Sam Davis. It had been reported that Sam had been doing some talking on politics on his own account, which was very foolish in him to do. Sam, from some cause, had come to the conclusion that he owned Sam Davis, which was the real cause of the mistake; but when the king had walked Sam over hot coals barefooted, he immediately wrote a communication to the Appeal, over "16 to 1," that gave him standing with Charles.

It is now believed by many that Sam will in the future do whatever is required to defeat a union of the silver forces in Nevada. Bill Stewart and J. P. Jones have shaken the silver dust from their feet, and Sam should follow his leaders.

California Couples.

Miss Eva Holden of Fresno and F. R. Hitchcock of Sanger were married yesterday in this city.

Miss Sadie H. Gibson and E. S. Eds of Santa Cruz were married in the parlors of the Riverside hotel Christmas afternoon. The groom was a former resident of Washoe. He is now proprietor of a livery stable in Santa Cruz.

In Blast Again.

The smelter at the Reno reduction works, after remaining idle for a month, started up yesterday and is now running out metal.

During the shut down a number of improvements were made and better satisfaction is expected.

It is said that formerly there was considerable loss in the fine dust.

Pigeon Shoot.

Christmas day was celebrated by the marksmen of Reno by a pigeon shoot at the Hawcroft ranch south of town. There were three matches, two for twelve birds and one for nine. W. Conover won first money in the first match. Hawcroft, Wheeler and Conover tied in the second match and the third was won by Ed Morton.

An Earthquake.

There was a severe earthquake in Southern California on Christmas day. The town of San Jacinto was in a measure destroyed. A number of Indians, who were sleeping in an old adobe building, were killed by falling walls. The sidewalks and streets are filled with fallen bricks from the walls of dwellings and business houses.

Erecting Poles.

A gang of polemen and wire-stringers are at work getting the Sunset lines in position. The poles are substantial and permanent sticks, and are high enough to prevent crossing electric light wires.

Special Edition.

The Nevada State Herald celebrated Christmas by getting out an excellent special edition, advertising the resources of that section of the State. It was edited by the ladies of Wells and vicinity.

Bismarck's Iron Nerve.

Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25c at Hodgkinson's drug store.

THE FLANIGAN—

LINEHAN NUPTIALS

Two Well-known People Contract the Matrimonial Habit.

Senator Patrick L. Flanigan of this city and Miss Hannah N. Linehan of San Francisco were married in St. Mary's cathedral, San Francisco, Sunday, December 24th, by the Rev. Father Flanigan.

Both the bride and groom are favorably and widely known, the former being representative of Washoe county in the Nevada Senate and is the heaviest taxpayer in the county.

Mrs. Flanigan was for four years teacher in the Reno high school and for some years previous a resident of Virginia city. At the time of her marriage she lived in San Francisco with her mother.

The benedict and his bride will begin housekeeping about March 1st, in the mansion being built for them on South Virginia street.

PERSONALS.

J. Gosse of Virginia is visiting his brother in this city.

Clifford Turrittin is up from the reservation.

Doctor Jordan of Stanford passed east yesterday on his way to Salt Lake.

Principal J. E. Monroe of Dayton was a visitor to Reno yesterday.

Dr. Kipp of Stanford is spending a few days with Dr. Cushman.

John Sparks has returned from a visit to California.

Miss Elizabeth Stubbs is spending a few days at Mottsville, the guest of Miss Godfrey.

Big Fat Possums.

Henry Riter presented his patrons with a treat Christmas day. He had three big fat possums done to a turn and they were cooked in the good old darky fashion with a stuffing of chestnuts. They lasted mighty quick.

The Cardinal and the Reporter.

Many instances are related of Cardinal Gibbons' broad mindedness as well as his tact and diplomacy in avoiding religious discussions with persons whose views are opposed to his own. Upon one occasion, so the story runs, in Baltimore a young journalist was sent by his chief to interview his eminence upon a topic of local interest. When the interview was over, the cardinal and his caller had a friendly chat upon a variety of subjects, including the church. The journalist was a Protestant, and in the argument that followed he became excited and expressed himself freely from his point of view. Upon returning to his office he reflected upon the outcome of his visit and came to the conclusion that he stood a fair chance of being discharged should the cardinal repeat the conversation to his editor.

The next day his eminence dropped into the newspaper office in question and asked to see the proprietor, who was his personal friend. The reporter was told of the call and quaked in his boots. The publisher and the cardinal discussed a matter of mutual interest to them, and before leaving his eminence said:

"By the way, you sent a young man to see me yesterday, and I was rather impressed with him. He appears to have the courage of his convictions. It would please me if you could do something better for him." Within a month the reporter who had anticipated dismissal received a gratifying promotion.—Raleigh Colston Smith in New York Times.

Dewey's Foresight.

"The battle of Manila was won in Hongkong harbor," said Admiral Dewey to me when I first saw him in May, 1898, and heard him describe the great fight. Many times since then I heard him repeat the same sentiment, and the more the truth of it is considered the more light it sheds on his character. While he was brave, strong, prompt and decisive in action, he was thoughtful, cautious, deliberate and sure in preparation.

Day after day he summoned his captains to discuss all the possibilities and eventualities of a conflict with the enemy. He gave them an opportunity to say when, where and how the battle should be fought. From junior to senior he called upon them to express their opinions freely. If any man had a novel idea, it was given careful consideration. If it was an old one with improvements, it was viewed in all phases.

After the admiral had patiently heard his captains and duly interrogated them, he quietly told them his own exact plan of battle and just what he expected of each man. Whether this was made up originally out of his own ideas or from such in union with the best points advanced by his captains, it was reached only after thorough deliberation and was final.—Hon. John Barrett in Harper's Magazine.

A Mistake.

An old gentleman of 80 having taken to the altar a young damsel of 15, the clergyman said to him:

"The font is at the other end of the church."

"What do I want with the font?" said the old gentleman.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," said the clerical wit. "I thought you had brought this child to be christened."—London Tit-Bits.

Getting Even With Her.

She wished to break it to him gently. "I have decided," she said, "to return your ring."

He, however, was a resourceful man, who did not believe in letting a woman get the better of him.

"You needn't bother," he replied. "I buy them by the dozen."—Chicago

Brief Items Culled From Exchanges From the Four Corners of Nevada.

There are no idle men in De Lamar who care to work.

Prevented a Tragedy.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long of New Straitsville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00 Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

In the Churches.

Christmas was celebrated in the churches by visits of the patron saint of the day to the young folk of the organizations.

In the Methodist church Monday evening a beautiful cantata, "Fairies and Brownies," was rendered, after which gifts were distributed to the children.

The Congregationalists gave their Christmas entertainment last evening. There was a large attendance. At the conclusion of a short program St. Nicholas rewarded the good little Sunday school children with choice gifts.

The Sunday school pupils and members of the Young People's Union of the Baptist church celebrated Christmas by a program and distribution of gifts in the evening.

Will Sue the County.

Gus Higgins, a chronic inebriate, was run in Monday evening for putting that in his mouth which stole away his brains.

When he was shoved into the cooler all the little jail birds began to sing: "Home Again."

Yesterday a gentleman who claims to be a half cousin of Higgins, appeared upon the scene and threatened to sue the county for a big sum for having imprisoned his relative. He says he has about $25,000 which he will use in fighting the case.

COMMITTEE OF FIFTEEN

IS IN SESSION

Planning to Amend the Present System of Text Books.

The committee of fifteen, appointed at the recent Washoe County teachers' institute, to prepare a list of text books and recommend the same for use in the public schools, met in the high school rooms yesterday afternoon.

There were only four absentees, one of whom is out of the State and the other three are at such a distance as to make it impossible to attend the session.

The following answered to the roll call:

State Superintendent Orvis Ring; Prof. Oshman, Nevada State University; Principle Howe, Carson; Prin. Bray, Reno; Prin. Averill, Virginia; Prin. Baugh, Gold Hill; Prin. Guarnsey, Eureka; Prin. Winfrey, Winnemucca; Prin. Caine, Wadsworth; Prin. Monroe, Dayton; Mrs. Doten, Reno.

State Superintendent Ring acted as chairman.

The committee found that contracts for all textbooks now in use in the state except for writing and drawing had expired; some for two or three years.

It was also found that there was a multiplicity of books being used in various districts that had never been adopted or recommended.

It was resolved to recommend for adoption a full set of text books, except writing and drawing, for use in primary and grammar schools, such text books being in the best opinion of the committee, the most modern and excellent.

Some of the books now in use will be readopted, but an effort will be made to obtain a clear out series.

One benefit that will arise from having a uniform series will be that children removing from one district to another will not be compelled, as is now often the case, to purchase new books.

The committee will remain in session all to-day. A system of text books for high schools will also be considered.

Alleged Cattle Stealing Case.

Last Wednesday was the day set for hearing in the case of the State vs. David and Harry Miller. Neither the defendants nor the prosecuting witness were present, but instead a letter to the prosecuting attorney was presented from Mr. Webb, which stated that he did not think he could substantiate his charges of cattle stealing, and would therefore go no further with the case. The court ordered the bondsmen released, dismissed the case and entered judgment against the complainant for costs, which amount to something like $75.—Lyon County Times.

David and Harry Miller, named in the above item, are the sons of James Miller, who is well known in the neighborhood of Reno as an upright man and a gentleman. The boys, it appears, have been wrongfully charged, which is a very serious thing to the young men. But the hitherto well known character of the boys for honesty, with an admitted wrong by a dismissal of the case, will remove any stain that might follow the charge.

GRINDINGS OF THE JUSTICE MILL

Yesterday's Doings in the District Court—Judge Mack Presides.

There was an all day session in the District Court yesterday. Judge O. E. Mack officiated by the request of Judge Carler.

The first matter adjudicated was Foulk's Accelerating Aermotor company versus Griffin. The demurrer was overruled and upon motion thirty days were given to answer.

The same plaintiff versus Pike—Demurrer.

The case of A. White versus Mrs. Boynton was set for January 3d.

In the estate of Samuel Brown order was granted as prayed for.

In the estate of Jessie Finlayson, upon motion, O. J. Smith was appointed attorney.

Robert Moore and Donald McKay testified. A final decree was granted in accordance with the prayer.

The case of B. F. Leete versus J. N. Evans, a suit for damages over an alleged interference with water right, was then called. The deed offered by plaintiff was admitted in evidence.

B. F. Leete, Cole B. Carler and T. K. Stewart were examined for the plaintiff. M. Gilling, H. Meles and J. N. Evans testified for the defendant. The case then rested.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years' constant use without a failure. For sale by Wm. Pinniger, Druggist.

EMMA NEVADA

WILL SING HERE

The Flute Voiced Nightingale Returns From Her World-Wide Wanderings.

Our music lovers will be deeply interested in the coming to this city of Mme. Emma Nevada, America's most distinguished cantatrice.

Mme. Nevada has been away from her native land almost twelve years, but even so long a period has not served to blot out recollection of the furor of enthusiasm with which she was received when Colonel Mapleson first brought her back to this country a finished artist.

She was recognized as the peer of Patti who accompanied her on that remarkable tournee, the equal of which has probably never been known.

When Mme. Nevada reached her native city Austin, Nevada, the excitement there was intense. Accompanied by the dignitaries of the town, the Prima Donna allowed herself to be carried everywhere in sight of the people who brought their families and even babies to the concerts.

At times the singer was so moved by the manifestation that she could not sing a note.

Miners wept when they shook her hand. She was feted all night and accompanied by bands during the day.

The Poganip.

Trainmen on the V. & T. say that at Virginia the sun has been shining bright while Reno has been wrapt in this cold fog.

The oldest inhabitant, whose reputation for veracity is not of the best, says there has been more poganip this winter than in any season in his memory.

The Magazine is on sale at Harry Davis'. The last number is very entertaining and is going like the proverbial "hot cakes."
